BatchMaster ERP for Nutraceuticals

The right supplement for business growth!

Increased awareness about usefulness of food supplement products for healthy life has given a big boost to the growth of the Nutraceuticals industry and encouraged more players to enter the market. At the same time, the regulatory requirements have become more stringent, with the agencies calling for the manufacturers to adhere to cGMP guidelines so as to safeguard the consumer's interest. Thus, the nutraceutical manufacturers search for ways to make cost-effective, high-quality products and remain profitable as well as ahead of the competition.

BatchMaster ERP for Nutraceuticals, a tailor-made ERP system, completes their search as it understands the needs of this industry and supports its core business processes in R&D, product development, production, quality, costing, traceability and regulatory compliance. It also helps the manufacturers streamline the manufacturing process, reduce operating costs, speed up information distribution, and enhance product quality and process efficiency.

Result: The business achieves adaptability, agility, accountability, reliability and scalability- in short, the way to profitable growth.
